Zicky's Song

Pepper

If you had it all, if you had nothing at all
What would you do, not to see your tears fall
Sleeping so still with a little time to kill
Drink down this thought, swallow this pillAnd the world would not move
So let me cry and sooth
The ink would never dry on page
Tears fall on words I say about you
About you, about you, about youDays are just lonely, days are just only
Used up like school books, forgotten like fools, fools
It's a distant constellation dying in the corner of the sky
I'm not looking for a miracle, just an explanation why, about you
About you, about you, about youAbout you, about you, about you, about you
'Bout you, about you, it's about you
