You Better Believe It

The Stereo

you want it, you need it but always give up so easy so what now? so be it
you always give up so easy alright, alright
hangin on, holding out
a bitter end to all our doubts genius invention
of clever misdirection
if it's the same every time then why can't i
make my brain decide
i want to believe you
anytime, anywhere 27, only halfway there
it's a miracle i've made it this far but now my tires are running out of air take me to the wall
i'm breaking up
you're making my mistake
you better believe it
cause this time is different i mean it game over, defeated
the end is all but completed
alright, alright

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/