All That Matters

Christina Perri

When I thought that my whole world had ended
The colors have faded to grey
Just when I have given up on hoping
The feelings they rushed back again
There's a bright light in the sky tonight
Guiding us safely to shore
Not afraid anymoreAll that matters now
Is where we go from here
There's an easier way if we live for today
To find that all we are is all that matters, is all that mattersRemember all you've forgotten
The joy in the simplest of things
Refuse take life for granted
But you choose to celebrate all that life brings
There's a bright light in the sky tonight
Guiding us safely to shore
Not afraid anymoreAll that matters now
Is where we go from here
There's an easier way if we live for today
To find that all we are is all that mattersThere's a bright light in the sky tonight
Guiding us safely to shore
Not afraid anymoreAll that matters now
Is where we go from here
There's an easier way if we live for today
To find that all we are is all that matters, is all that mattersThere's an easier way if we live for today
To find that all we are is all that matters
