Sunrise, Sunset

Still Life

When I found this place of peace, I smiled and said it was mine to keep. Then I closed my eyes and screamed for you. Couldn't find you standing there because you were standing for you. I didn't see your feelings, true. Sunshine is on my mind, my friends I need you to make it shine. Yeah it's true, my friends, I'd die for you. Emotions can hurt so bad but I'm not going to make these days the ones I never had. Now I've come to see my self, for the things I've hated, because I closed my eyes to everyone else. So I'll try and change myself because all I want is sunshine for you and everybody else. I've got to break my thickening walls. Sunshine is on my mind, my friends I need you to make it shine. Yeah it's true, my friends, I'd die for you. Your smiles could fill my days, this sunshine is for all of us to take and run away. I think I love you, and to me it is so new, when darkness surrounds me, I'll get my sunshine from you. I love you a

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/