California Bound

Carolina Liar

Youre miles away
You just cant relate
Are you what surrounds you?You feel alive
At least you think that life
Is something in you

What do we know? Theres a southern bound train tomorrow
Takes us out of this dirty town
Chase the sun back to the West Coast
In eight hours, were California bound
Were California boundYou got butterflies

Well so do I

Just pretend that theyre not thereWe can only rely
On ourselves like every time
Its just a new plan

What do we know? Theres a southern bound train tomorrow
Takes us out of this dirty town
Chase the sun back to the West Coast
In eight hours, were California bound

Were California bound
Were California boundYou look so brave
With the sun in your face
Just gotta believe me

Why dont we go? Theres a southern bound train tomorrow

Takes us out of this dirty town

Chase the sun back to the West Coast

In eight hours, ohForget everything tomorrow

Well be on a brand new road

Chasing the sun back to the West Coast

In eight hours, were California bound

Were California bound Were California bound Were California bound

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/