All Hands

Tree63

Well I burned my past, I sent it up in flames
I threw away my keys, I got my name changed
Don't you remember me, always on the run?
I got the sunshine on and I'm growing fast
You will never see me crawl againAll hands up, who has had enough?
Come on make your mind up
All hands, all hands up
All hands up, anyone strong enough?
The world needs someone tough
All hands, all hands upWhere's the truth?
Something absolute
I'd give everything I have
For something I don't have to proveWho's going to stand with me?
Who's it going to be?
Hey, this is just to die for
It takes a fool to see
You will never ever crawl againAll hands up, who has had enough?
Come on make your mind up
All hands, all hands up, all hands up
All hands up, anyone strong enough?
The world needs someone tough
All hands, all hands upWhere's the truth?
Give me something absolute
You will never ever crawl againAll hands up, who has had enough?
Come on make your mind up
All hands, all hands up, all hands up
All hands up, anyone strong enough?
The world needs someone tough
All hands, all hands up, all hands up
All hands, all hands up

Songwriters
Ellis John AndrewPublished by
BIRDWING MUSIC

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/