

We Ran

Orange Yellow Red

So many roads here
That I can't really choose
So many oceans
That I could float to you
The sound of the raging sea
The touch as you give me your hand We ran and we ran with the tide
The colourless wind we tried to ride
We ran and we ran to the shore
The glittering skies I adored Is there a place here
That we can fool around
A blustery snowstorm that never really melts
A long lost journey it never really ends
Or no solution
That we could make amends
The crash of the breaking sea
The rush as you give me your hand We ran and we ran with the tide
The colourless wind we tried to ride
We ran and we ran to the shore
The shimmering skies I adored
