

Sunny Days

Jars of Clay

Sunny days keepin' the clouds away
I think we're coming to a clearing and a brighter day
So far away, still I think they say, the wait will make their heart Grow stronger or fonder, I can't quite remember anyway So if you're waitin' for love, well it's a promise I'll keep
If you don't mind believing that it changes everything
Time will never matter Winter, spring is what love can truly bring Ice turns to water, water flows to everything
You can lose your mind, maybe then your heart will find
I hope you won't give up what's movin' you inside, no So if you're waitin' for love, well it's a promise I'll keep
If you don't mind believing that it changes everything
Time will never matter
(Time will never matter) So if you're waitin' for love, well it's a promise I'll keep
Even if you don't mind believing that it changes everything
Time will never matter
(Time will never matter) If the car won't start, when you turn the key
When the music comes on, all your cold
Cold heart can do is skip a beat It's a promise I'll keep, when you're waitin' for love
If you don't mind believing that it changes everything
Time will never matter
(Time will never matter) So if you're waitin' for love, well, it's a promise I'll keep
Even if you don't mind believing that it changes everything
Time will never matter
(Time will never matter) Your time will never matter
(Time will never matter)
Your time will never matter

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>