

Still Life

Suede

This still life is all I ever do
There by the window, quietly killed for you
In this glass house, my insect life
Crawling the walls under electric lights I'll go into the night, into the night
She and I, into the night Is this still life, all I'm good for, too?
There by the window, quietly killed for you
And they drive by like insects do
They think, they don't know me
They hired a car for you To go into the night, into the night
She and I, into the night Still life is all I ever do
There by the window, quietly killed for you
Still life is all I ever do But it's still, still life
But it's still, still life
But it's still, still life
