AM & Shawn Lee

You're in a disguise so that you can get everything you want Don't open your eyes to the hollowed air circling you now
We want to believe it's as simple as what you put forth But there's nothing beneath any promises you can't upholdYou say you'll live forever but I know time will wear you down truth is we're in his together and I hope we can work it outA moment of silence is something that's so hard to find It's hard to believe in anything when all we have are the outlines You'll stray cuz it's difficult to stay on course Swept up in a dream kept alive by nothing more than your followersYou say you'll live forever
but I know time will wear you down
truth is we're in his together
and I hope we can work it out
