

Song for America

Kansas

Virgin land of forest green, dark and stormy plains, here all life abounds

Sunlit valley, mountain fields, unseen in the rain, here all life abounds

No man rules this land, no human hand has soiled this paradise

Waiting patiently, so much to see, so rich in earth's delights
Painted desert, sequined sky, stars that fill the night, here all life abounds

Rivers flowing to the sea, sunshine pure and bright, here all life abounds

No man rules this land, no human hand has soiled this paradise

Waiting patiently, so much to see, so rich in earth's delights
So the maiden lies in waiting for the sails to reach the shore

Land of beauty and abundance, innocent, you opened wide your door

Wanderers found the waiting treasure, full of gifts beyond their measure

Milk and honey for our pleasure
Across the sea there came a multitude, sailing ships upon the wave

Filled with visions of Utopia and the freedom that they crave

Ravage, plunder, see no wonder, rape and kill and tear asunder

Chop the forest, plow it under
