

I'll Die With No Friends and a Grin on My Face

Inhale Exhale

I curse the day when being open was abandoned
Now my brothers see the weakness in my action
And the way I walk screams defeat
My existence hurts those I love This motion seems to drag me down
Without them there is defeat
And when you find me
I will listen to your words Away they go with nothing more than a smile
Id like to think that this burning will soon die
Alone with hate for myself, so save, save yourself This motion seems to drag me down
Without them there is defeat
And when you find me
I will listen to your words With a grin on my face, Im sorry
Take me back, take me back
With a grin on my face, Im sorry
Take me back This motion seems to drag me down
Without them there is defeat
And when you find me
I will listen to your words Oh, what forgiveness is?
I say bury your secrets now
Oh, what forgiveness is?
I say bury your secrets
