September Girl

Jake Holmes

Oh, September girl, I am so scared today
Already 28 and still haven't saved the world
Woke up this morning to nothing I recognized
Everything changed and I never saw it coming
Now there are 5 billion disappointed souls scrapping around in my disappointed mindAnd for the first time in my life I am afraid of changing because everything's changing without meOh September girl I am so scared for you
You finally decided to live on without me
Now I am forced to just swallow this heart for you to become the girl you already are Now there are five billion disappointed souls that'll just have to wait...
'cause I only dream for youMaybe it's time for me to do
The thing that I meant to do
'Cause your getting older and I'm getting older and even us good people die
The gifted never stop seeing the world for the first time
The good ones grow older, the poor ones grow older, the great ones are never forgotten.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/