Broken Pieces

Israel Houghton

Broken pieces everywhere
I stole my mind, and found I care
Running on the morning tide
Something you would say to meWe drank the waters of delight
We played the games of wrong and right
Did we understand
They're just footsteps in the sandOh, long dreaming, find my tears
I could love you, all the yearsThere are times like today
The wind will blow in a gentle way
Mark it down in frozen glass
Lied to me that I could winSo many ways to share a love
With words and touch we promised much
Do we understand
The footsteps in the sandOoh, I believe, I believe too easily
Ooh, I believe, I believe too easilyOoh, long dreaming find my tears
I could love you, all the yearsHere I stand still the same
I guess this showcase changed the name
Hard to know who plays the fool
Never looking back on yearsI wonder now witch way to face
I catch a vision of this place
Did we understand
Those footsteps in the sand
