Here Comes the War

New Model Army

Today, as you listen to this song Another 394,000 children were born into this world

They break like waves of hunger

And desire upon these eroded shoresCarrying the curses of history and a history yet unwritten

The oil burns in thick black columns

The buzz saws echo through the forest floor

They shout give us our fair share, give us justice, here comes the warOn a gray morning to the south of here

Two young men in makeshift uniforms peer into the misty light

And figures dart behind the trees

As a snap of rifle rounds echoes out across the fieldsThey hardly know their sacred mother tongue But they know their duty to defend the flag hanging limp

And bloody above the village church while a thousand miles away

In a warehouse complex down by the riverYoung money men play paint ball games

Here comes the war

Put out the lights on the age of reasonSo blow out the candle and tell us another of those great stories

The ones about serial killers

Let dreams flow into savage times

Do you hear the sirens scream across the city? We've had three hot nights in succession

The riot season is here again

Dear Lord, lead us back into the Valley of the Shadow of Death

Here comes the war did you think we were born in peaceful times? Faster, faster, like a whirling dervish spinning round

Faster, faster, until the center cannot hold

You screamed give us liberty or give us death

Now you've got both, what do you want next?

Here comes the war, put out the lights on the age of reason
