Everything's Your Fault

Face to Face

Have you heard them talk about it?
You say they're wrong but they know all about it
Have you tried another story?
We're tired of all the lies and allegoriesEvery single thing's your faultThere you are not really jaded
You've learned to live with being underrated
But they don't know just what you're made of
Because of them who knows how you will end up?Every single thing's your fault
