

Phoenix Rising

Steve Winwood

See you on the avenue
And I know youre gonna be
Hearing secret harmonies, yeah, yeah
Its a very fine line, a trembling leaf
Tween the heaven here on earth
And mystery youve witnessed in your own dreamsAs the stars shine with magic illusion
And the sirens sing up from the streetsPhoenix rising, Phoenix rising, Phoenix rising
Hear the beat, feel the heat
Phoenix rising, Phoenix rising, Phoenix risingBlue is what you make it, babe
No one else can make you cry
While seasons mark your proud beliefs, yeah
And the passion fills your eyes with sodium light
And the secrets that you hold within you
Should be mine and mine alone now, yeahWell, its love not illusion, thats what I want
And the music that flows from the streets at nightPhoenix rising, Phoenix rising, Phoenix rising
Hear the beat, feel the heat
Phoenix rising, Phoenix rising, Phoenix risingTake the rhythm now
For it rolls on all through the town
Close your eyes, take your prizeJust as I stumble through the heat and I remember
As I wander through the streets, I remember ancient beats
Though the sidewalk burns my feet, I surrenderAs the stars shine with magic illusion
And the sirens sing up from the streetPhoenix rising, Phoenix rising, Phoenix rising
Hear the beat, feel the heat
Phoenix rising, Phoenix rising, Phoenix risingTake the rhythm now
For it rolls on all through the town
Close your eyes, take your prize
Find your space, take your place, yeah
