

First Crush

Keke Palmer

They maybe clear but there ain't no doubt
They don't know about the way I feel for you
They say one day I'll understand
But they don't even know you Always talking so much about yesterday
But you can tell it by the look on their face
They remember nothing, not having something
That when one phone call was enough
Go ahead and ask us Do any of you even remember that first crush?
Do you remember back in the day when your mama said
Some day when you're grown and you got your own
And know I knew what was best for you and I'm telling you
Then you must not remember your first crush? Not like I don't appreciate
All the ways you try in protecting
But I just wish that some day
You'd open your eyes and see That you're probably are right, don't worry
Got my mind on, right, so it ain't a thang, no
You gotta trust me, I'm feeling you, feeling you
But can you remember? Do any of you even remember that first crush?
Do you remember back in the day when your mama said
Some day when you're grown and you got your own
And know I knew what was best for you and I'm telling you
Then you must not remember your first crush? Do you remember? Do you remember?
Back in the day when you're knowing you're falling
Do you remember? Do you remember?
Knew it the minute you saw him Do you remember? Do you remember?
Back in the day when you're knowing you're falling
Do you remember? Do you remember?
Knew it the minute you saw him, do you remember, oh? Do any of you even remember that first crush?
Do you remember back in the day when your mama said
Some day when you're grown and you got your own
And know I knew what was best for you and I'm telling you
Then you must not remember your first crush? No, you don't remember it, no, not even your first crush
You don't remember it, no, not even your first crush
Do any of you even remember that first crush?

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>