Matthew Dear

All of these days into one.
Awaken to the silence of the sun.
Who can I talk with today?
Why am I still the same?No reward for calling out your name
As I have done time and time again.
You were off in some great distant sun.
I am unfrozen time to shun.All of my sad songs can't make you change.
They'll just keep pushing you further away.
One of your great regrets will be staying in place.
And I can't hold you back from your dreams.
When you figure out what's real, I'll be standing here;
A little bit older but forgiving as the night into day.
