Angels in Alabama

Murphy Elmore

They broke out the news and i broke into a bottle of whiskey with every intention of drowning my pain i was hell bent, damn determined i wouldn't let anyone see these tears rollin down my face but then i heard her voice the lump grew in my throat so big man i lost the strength to talk and she said son its gonna be okay and right there i lost control cause she's the reason i believe in miracles the strongest woman that i know a fighter like no other let me tell you brother she's what makes this house a home she's the one that taught me to walk by faith had me sitting in that front row every Sunday morning, sunny or storming it didn't matter yeah she's the reason i believe in angles in Alabama well i put that bottle away and got down on my knees me and god had a heart to heart i said i know we ain't talked in a while but i'm begging you please cause seeing her like this lord its tearing me apart

cause she's the reason i believe in miracles
the strongest woman that i know
a fighter like no other
let me tell you brother
she's what makes this house a home
she's the one that taught me to walk by faith
had me sitting in that front row
every Sunday morning, sunny or storming
it didnt matter yeah shes

the reason i believe in angles in Alabama

the doctor tells me she's got her gloves on and that she's ready for this fight and i say man i know thats true she's been fighting her whole life she's the reason i believe in miracles

the strongest woman that i know
a fighter like no other
let me tell you brother
she's what makes this house a home
she's the one that taught me to walk by faith
had me sitting in that front row
every Sunday morning, sunny or storming
it didnt matter yeah shes
the reason i believe in angles in Alabama

angels in Alabama
I could show you an angel in Alabama an angel in Alabama she's my angel in Alabama they broke out the news and I broke into a bottle of whiskey

Lyrics Submitted by Nicole Waldrop

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/