Silvia

Silvia

Reached the city steps tonight
Following the power lines
Met a man bar side
With eclipses for eyesAnd you tell yourself you won't let them touch
Did I say too much? Did I say enough?
I don't know SilviaCircle round the room still Have fun breaking my will
You know I can't have you here
With someone else on your skinAnd it's all my fault for not getting off
So you made it start, can you make it stop?
You don't know SilviaReached the city steps tonight
Following the power lines
And your skin is so white
Underneath the black nightAnd your voice cries out for the coup de grace
When the lights go out will there be a trace?
That I loved Silvia, that I loved Silvia
