

You're Bleeding

NOFX

You've got the beauty, but that don't mean a thing
A bland reciprocation but it doesn't bother me
You're happier with lights on underneath a darkened sky
Only in the spotlight can you tell me of your crimes I understand the situation but I can't Seem to understand the motivations you once had
I recall a message I once left behind a screen
I was entranced when you were never, never there for me You're draining, you're draining me, I'm not a tub
What ever happened to the girl I used to hold
I held in such a high regard
Where is the girl who had it all? I used to think I wasn't worthy of your cause
I used to feel so lucky
Until the day I felt a weakness in my arms
I knew from where it had been coming

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>