Blonde Redhead

On you I can't stop you now how to fall how to be and who to buy where to live and when to lie visible invisible how to be desirable always you always me except your own defense no not now no not with myself all I want is to be you all you want is to be two visible invisible how to be describable always you always me except your own defense my last words were not amusing I know but since then I thought about what I can tell you kindly show you and give you my head aches just as I speak of you I am not sure I alone each man to himself like myself I see this song is you this song is full of you all I want is to be two this song ...
