

Just a Little

Sugar Ray

You met her, persuade her but still she's miles away
She crossed her fingers, won't look back at yesterday
Sometimes you feel like you can run back into her arms
You made her, persuade her, don't let her slip away
Don't let her slip away Ooh, just a little more baby, can't you see?
You're running away
Just a little more baby, stay with me
You're running away, you're running away
You're running away Surrender, protect her, I gave myself away
She rolls her eyes at all the stupid things I say
Sometimes I feel I can't run back into her arms
I made her, forgave her but some things never change
Don't let her slip away Ooh, just a little more baby, can't you see?
You're running away
Just a little more baby, stay with me
You're running away, you're running away
You're running away And you know you got me running
Got me thinking 'bout the other side
And you know you got me hoping
Got me praying, need you by my side
Oh baby Ooh, just a little more baby, can't you see?
You're running away
Just a little more baby, stay with me
You're running away, you're running away
You're running away

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>