

Red Flag

The Suicide Machines

Drop out of mainstream society
Now think about the world and what's going around
Blood for oil, the stakes in this capitalist game
How can this ignorant mentality remains? Together we must stand to avoid a catastrophe
If this is a throwback, we'll throw down the kings
We gotta rise up, rise up and fight the power
Rise up against this corruption Those in high places act as gods among men
They play us for fools to keep the power they defend
Rich man, common man defined by their genes
While another brother dies to feed the capitalist machines Together we must stand to avoid a catastrophe
If this is a throwback, we'll throw down the kings
We gotta rise up, rise up and fight the power
Rise up against this corruption
What they don't wanna hear the voices of the millions
What they don't wanna know
The coming revolution, so fly the red flag
It all comes down, collapsing in on itself
