

Just Another Alice

Kristi Warner

Written by: Ladd Smith & Don Goodman

Its like listening to a witness up there on the stand
When she testifies her story, before a three piece band
Blinded by the spotlight, its hard to understand
She's just another Alice, here in Wonderland

Its like watching an angel, caught in a trap
She knows she cant go on and she knows she cant go back
Another waitress, another smoky bar
And she wonders where she stands
If she's just another Alice, here in Wonderland

[Chorus]

And the sidewalks down on Broadway
Are a trail of broken hearts
That lead the lonely dreamers
Thru the honkytonks and bars
Believing they're a song away from someday being stars
'Till they buy their tickets home again
And they pawn their old guitars
And down at the Greyhound station, another takes the chance
Is she just another Alice, here in Wonderland?

Well every now and then, we'll see one come along
With the voice of an angel and magic in her song
She'll reach into our lives and take us by the hand
And sell a million tickets here to Wonderland

[Chorus]

And the sidewalks down on Broadway
Are a trail of broken hearts
That lead the lonely dreamers
Thru the honkytonks and bars
Believing they're a song away from someday being stars
'Till they buy their tickets home again
And they pawn their old guitars
And down at the Greyhound station, another takes the chance
Is she just another Alice, here in Wonderland?

Am I just another Alice, here in Wonderland?

Â©Copyright 2000-2012, All Rights Reserved

Ladd Smith, Argills Music, ASCAP

Nashville, TN

<http://www.LaddSmith.com>

[and]

Don Goodman, Don Goodman Music Group, BMI

*Administered by Resnik Music Group

Resnik Music Group

P.O. Box 6005

Palm Harbor, FL 34684-0605

727-781-6933

<http://www.ResnikMusicGroup.com>

Artist: Alecia Nugent

Album: "Hillbilly Goddess"

Producer: Carl Jackson

Label: Rounder Records

Lyrics submitted by Ladd Smith.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>