Sword Through Lungs

Pave the Path

Swallow me into the war
Bury me in a coffin, let me my sin burn
Learn how much we did wrong in life?
Learn how the humanity shall be burnt
With dark night we drown in the sea
With sunrise we hide between the trees
Live with darkened face, no surface
Till the day we beg enough the never ending pray

Pushing you with sword through lungs
As brothers and I fall down, pray for thee

Tried to escape from the arrow rain
Ended up falling, having thousand pains
Day by day the faith becomes weak
"Live through hell, then forgive"
Erase the pain, feed to humanity
Waste human hearts?
Then we drown in the sea
Live with darkened face, no surface
Till the day we beg enough the never ending pray
Reality? Humanity

As the ocean burns with light, it fades into rain
Dims the shining sky
But then struggles the light shines through clouds
Burn your heart as ocean with pain, tears fall as rain
Darkened, a war inside you
Pushing you with sword through lungs

I feel my soul scorched by the sun
Between my heart and my lungs
How come each voice I'll forget?
Each word shall admit
Awaiting for the new dawn's birth, curse the demons dead
Each word shall admit, curse the demons dead
Screaming the voice, let the wall be destroyed

As a knight at front line of the battle
Stay still with sword through lungs

Storm with the faith
With thousand pains, start to rain, bleed in darkness
From first to last, heads on yard...
Rest in fire, suffer

Weak heart, an ocean, clouds set alight
Brave chest, a knight's, your sword, inside
