

Josephine

Frank Turner

I heard the name Josephine

It came to me in dream

And I don't usually set too much store by the things that these things might mean

It was spoken with seriousness

More of a whisper than a scream

Now, I'm waiting on this Josephine

To show herself to me Could have been anyone

I imagined, I could be

I just needed somebody

To show me how to be

I could have been Napoleon

Could have been Beethoven

Could have been anyone, but uncomfortable me

So come on now Josephine, show yourself to me So come on now Josephine give me what I need

I don't like to be needy but sometimes needs

Must, I can't stand being the person that I've been

I'm an impending car crash

I'm the first one on the scene

I'm a defeated commander

I'm a tone-deaf composer

I'm a strange name whispered in a dream Could have been anyone

I imagined, I could be

I just needed somebody

To show me how to be

I could have been Napoleon

Could have been Beethoven

Could have been anyone, but uncomfortable me

So come on now Josephine, show yourself to me So come on now Josephine

Let's pretend it's Halloween

You come as a car crash

And I'll go as James Dean

I'm Napoloeon on Elba

And you're a hundred days in 1815

I wrote all of these letters to my immortal beloved

You're the only one who's ever gonna know what they mean Come on now Josephine

Show yourself to me

Could have been anyone

But I ended up being me

Could have been runaway

Could have been what you need
I wish that I was anyone except for just me
So come on now Josephine
Show yourself to me
Come on now Josephine
Show yourself to me
Come on now Josephine
Show yourself to me
Come on now Josephine
Show yourself to me

Songwriters
FRANK TURNERPublished by
Lyrics © CHRSALYIS MUSIC GROUP INC

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>