

Stewart's Coat

Chantal Kreviazuk

Words & music: rickie lee jones
Hold me, love, I can't sleep again
Or will I have to kiss your lips
Oh, I want to lay in this day, in love
I remember walking in the rain
Rain is falling on my eyes
Oh, I want to live through that again, oh
Outside only it gets darker
And I was walking in the park, now
And children singing songs
Of where we go our dreams come true
I'm in love with you
It only takes love
Love is a healing thing
When you give everything
All your love in the world
The world gives you love to hold on to
It remembers you, 'cause all we're so wrong
I know I am
Somewhere, I don't remember love
Just give me many chances
I'll see you through the storms

Just give me time to learn to grow
Just give me many chances
I'll see you through the wind
Just give me time to learn to grow
In september, when the rain comes and the wind blows
I will see you walking in the cold, alone
But if you'll let me, I will keep you here, inside the stars
I will love the sand on my sheets, and you loving me in the dark
Somewhere, I don't remember love
Just give me many chances
I'll see you through the storms
Just give time to learn to grow
Just give me many chances
I'll see you through the wind
Just give me time to learn to grow
Just give me many chances

I'll see you through the rain
Just give me time to learn, time to learn to grow, oh
Just give me many chances
I'll see you through it all
Just give me time to learn to grow
Time to learn to grow
Time to learn to grow
Time to learn to grow
