

The Road

Hurts

Darling whats your name
And can you hear me
Tell me why youre out so late alone
The diamonds sparkle in your face I hold you
The gravel glistens black and red below
Hallow, you drift into the night
Hallow-girl
When I close my eyes I see you
When I close my eyes youre here
In the dead of the night I feel you
When I open my eyes you disappear
The metal wraps itself around your bones
And when it penetrates you it feels cold
As you were born you leave this world alone
A stranger on an unfamiliar road
That roaring engine sings you: Hallelujah
The broken headlamp lights your path to God
