

Love Has Won

Natalie Grant

Out on the front line tonight
Fearing defeat, bruised from the fight
Feeling too tired to run
But inside we know the race isn't done It's time to be soldiers
'Cause the fight isn't over
So we need to come closer
And lay all our burdens down
To the One who knows us
And the One who holds us
Here on this battleground Lift up your head
The King has come
We know that His love
His love has won
Keep marching on
To the risen Son
His love has won All through the city tonight
Hope's running deep, he hears our cry It's time to be soldiers
'Cause the fight isn't over
So we need to come closer
And lay all our burdens down
To the One who knows us
And the One who holds us
Here on this battleground Lift up your head
The King has come
We know that His love
His love has won
Keep marching on
To the risen Son [x2] His love shines brighter than the darkest night
His love runs deep, His love runs wide
And after all is said and done
His love has won, we know, His love has won We march to the beat of a different drum
We know, we know His love has won
We march in the light of the risen Son
Oooh, His love has won Lift up your head
The King has come
We know that His love We march to the beat of a different drum
We know, we know His love has won
We march in the light of the risen Son
Oooh, His love has won

His love has won
