Daisy a Day

Dylan Holton

In the back of my mind is a story untold of a girl that reminds me of you
She's caught in her ways and she talks of the days she'll find love but for now she is through.
And I don't believe her â€˜cause I'd never leave her,
She'll be mine someday.

Won't you talk to me talk to me don't let me go
All the feelings inside of me I can't control
Won't you walk with me walk with me so I can't pretend
To walk by with a smile when I know it's the end

Oh won't you say you'll stay, won't you say you'll stay
If I give you a daisy a day.

You hopped in your car and you parked in my mind
As you turned up the heat through the snow.
I heard words in the wind as my tears turned to ice
She said love's precious don't ever let it go.

Yes I believe her â€˜cause I'd never leave her,
She'll be mine someday.

Won't you talk to me talk to me don't let me go
All the feelings inside of me I can't control
Won't you walk with me walk with me so I can't pretend
To walk by with a smile when I know it's the end

Oh won't you say you'll stay, won't you say you'll stay
If I give you a daisy

Today I'll give you a choice
To find your way to me by the sound of my voice.
Today's the day you could wake up and have something beautiful

So talk to me talk to me don't let me go
All the feelings inside of me I can't control
Won't you walk with me walk with me so I can't pretend
To walk by with a smile when I know it's the end

Won't you talk to me talk to me don't let me go
All the feelings inside of me I can't control

Won't you walk with me walk with me so I can't pretend
To walk by with a smile when I know it's the end

Oh won't you say you'll stay, won't you say you'll stay
If I give you a daisy a day, a daisy a day.

Today was a day you coulda woke up and had something beautiful.
