

Unspoken

Weezer

Every morning, every day, I am hoping for a chance to feel the way.
In the evening, every night, I am dreaming of a chance to make it right. Every chance that I get I am placing a bet on the sun in the sky. And if you take this away from me, I'll never forgive you can't you see.
Our life will be broken.
Our hate will be unspoken. I can feel those little chains, and they're holding back the hope that keeps me sane.
I can fight back. Yes I can, 'cause i'm strong enough to show you i'm a man. And I hate what you do when the poison seeps through,
and you're laughing at me. And if you take this away from me,
I'll never forgive you can't you see.
Our life will be broken.
Our hate will be unspoken. Every chance that I get I am placing a bet on the sun in the sky as it sets out of sight.
And I hate what you do when your poison seeps through,
and you're laughing at me. And if you take this away from me,
I'll never forgive you can't you see.
Our life will be broken.
Our hate will be unspoken. And if you take this away from me,
I'll never forgive you can't you see.
Our life will be broken.
Our hate will be unspoken.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>