Hey, you
You never should've ran
You want to make something
That you can take you down again This time you say you're just fine
You need a little something
That can make you smile again Come on, it won't take long
You're never going to need it
When you hear that sound again It's a sin, you're looking kind of thin
You need a little bit
So you can impress everybody
You're still in a daze Hey, you
I know you like to prance
So get up and dance
So I can spin you round again Take your time, you're looking just fine
Let's do a little shuffle
And that can make you smile again Come on, it won't take long
Let's sing a little song
Until the sun don't shine again But every time you say you're just fine
You need a little bit
So you can impress everybody
You're still in a daze You can try hard
But you never really had the time
So take a look around see
Just what you're going to get inside
You never should've ran
