

The Fall

McCarthy

My mother, the Red Arrow fly
Nosedives towards meLondon is falling down
London is falling downShining new pylons descend to the earth
As I walk towards them skyscrapers crash down to the groundLondon is falling down, down down
London is falling downInside and outside what goes up comes down
London is falling down, down down down down
London is falling downI'll take a plane or a kite I'm flying Northwards
I'm going uptownLondon is falling down, down down down down
London is falling downInside and outside what goes up comes down
London is falling down
London is falling down
London is falling down
London is falling down
