Yellow Moon

Akeboshi

All day yesterday
My cellphone's call signal kept going off
An out-of-tune fuzz guitar
In a strange parkOn my motorbike, oblivious
Overtaking the wind
The crescent moon is history
Above me
The earth is my goal line
The dogs and the lions
Are all moving on to Venus
It's kind of annoyingA yellow moon. Keep on counting
To three, and open your eyes
Shadow moon
Still dreamingLook in my eyes, look in my eyes
As we stand with our backs to each other
Look in my eyes and tell me, yes or no?Every day every night
I want to tell you right now, with words of love
About my love for you
Every day every night
With an ordinary signal
I want to tell you about this feeling that's out of controlFeeling fine, with you this time
Holding each other in a golden churchYellow moon
As the moon wanes in the night sky
It shines with a serene smile once again tonightLook in my eyes, look in my eyes
As we stand with our backs to each other
Look in my eyes and tell me, yes or no?Every day every night
I want to tell you right now, with words of love
Every day every night
About my love for youEvery dayA yellow moon. Keep on counting
To three, and open your eyes
Shadow moon
Still dreamingLook in my eyes, look in my eyes
As we stand with our backs to each other
Look in my eyes, when will I see you again?Every day every night
I want to tell you right now, with words of love
About my love for you
Every day every night
With an ordinary signal
I want to tell you about this feeling that's out of controlA magic code change

In this sleepless town
A jazz guitar playing a soft minor
That changes every day
