Sense

The Lightning Seeds

I'm flying high on something beautiful and aimless
It's got a name but I prefer to call it nameless
It comes and goes leaves me on a bed of splinters
Feels like I'm living in a town closed down for winterThe taste of love, the more you get, the more you want
And all because the only reason is just because
It all makes sense when you're near
It all makes senseI'm standing high on tiptoes, looking over fences
Waiting for somebody like you to kiss me, senseless
I've had a bellyfull of faces drawn in sadness
I want to jump deep into tides of loving madness
