Beside

Jon & Vangelis

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

I have seen the compass turning
Round and round my heart
The senses are yearning
For a possible change of heart
Is coming to you, coming to youYou stand upright, you are different
Why the spinal shock the fusion the evil
Spill it out on the floor of belief
Come and mend this design
Come and mend this design
With every right we doI have seen the sun, this sounds crazy
The story about a boy in the rain
He was standing waiting for for the light
As though he did have a reason to knowDid he really know?
His eyes were open they expected someone
In his heart he felt the compass was turned onI will echo, oh, for reasons that change me
Every thought, though it takes so long
Is master with every planIt would seem there is no end
To the bad or goodness in man
So my friend it seems the weariest night
Just leads to a heavenly dawn
Should we see so much
In every time we sighEven this we could call music
As that would match my body connection
Let me take your hand
I will be beside you, besideHe took so much a lot of my mind
I can't help believe all though is sublime
It this fate? I see it again and againYes, am I taught to love above every reason
Every one every season
The compass will turn and turn again
Turn again and turn again

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/