

Long Beach

Sons of Sylvia

Long Beach, California
Is where I held your hand
Down on Ocean Boulevard
That's where we made the plan
In Long Beach, California
We sat on the pier
That's where I told you everything
And I wiped your tears
But an earthquake
Made my heart break
Now it's too late
It's all gone, it's all gone, it's all gone
Long Beach, California
There's so much to see
But it can't be lonely there
It was lonely for me
For you brought all the sunshine
And you cleared up the skies
You were what I was waiting for
All of my life
But an earthquake
Made my heart break
Now it's too late
It's all gone, it's all gone, it's all gone
Oh, I should've been leaving this place
I should've been leaving the interstate
I should've been leaving this place
I should've been, I should've been
But an earthquake
Made my heart break
Now it's too late
It's all gone, it's all gone, it's all gone
Oh, what I cannot do
I still love you
And I will miss you
So, so long, so, so long, so, so long
Long Beach, California
Is where I held your hand
Down on Ocean Boulevard
That's where we made the plan
