Voyeur

Depswa

I see you coming in
And it's as if I've been awakened
Maybe you were born for meAnd I'm feeling so alive
And I'm overcome with pleasure
So deep in fantasyAnd it's taken all I have not to give myself away
It seems to be getting closer
Within each and everydayAnd I have to hold on to my emotions
As they stray
So I try to walk awayI'm overwhelmed by the sight
When your beauty fills me up
Beautiful feeling of the lightI'll follow you through the window
And don't you, you know
That you'll bring some life to me tonight?Secretly, I wonder
And I wait for an invitation
Maybe you are onto meAnd I wonder if you know
All the beauty that you give
Pretending not to seeAnd I see you all alone sometimes
And you begin to cry
And my heart splits wide open
As I begin to wonder whySo I'll look and turn
And scream into the sky
So I try to walk awayI'm overwhelmed by the sight
When your beauty fills me up
Beautiful feeling of the lightI'll follow you through the window
And don't you, you know
That you'll bring some life to me?And I'll follow through the window
Watching where you go
Wonder if you see me too, tonightWhat should I do?
Should I call out to you?
Should I let you know?
Should I let it go?What should I do?
Should I knock on your door?
Should I let you know who?
Should I let it go?Well, I have to try and find
Some courage I've left behind
Some day, some way
I've got to tell youI'll follow you through the window
And don't you, you know
That you'll bring some life to me?And I'll follow wherever you go

You've got to let me know
If you see me tooI'll follow you through the window
You've got to let me know
If you see, you will see me too
