

Left For You

Nonpoint

I don't think that I have the answers that you're looking for Every door is boarded shut from the outside (the outside)
I don't think that you can do this without keeping score
I don't think that I can do this with you anymore.
There isn't anything left for you, left for you
Put this back together like before
There isn't anything left for you left for you
Don't make me understand it anymore
There isn't anything left for you left for you
That will make me want to stay
There isn't anything left for you
Anything left for you but an enemy.
I was trying everything I could to understand
Just exactly what you were on the inside (the inside)
Just don't have it in me anymore to hold your hand
I'm out of things to say and people to blame on you... there isn't anything left for you left for you
Put this back together like before
There isn't anything left for you left for you

Don't make me understand it anymore
There isn't anything left for you left for you that will make me want to stay
There isn't anything left for you, anything left for you but an enemy.
I'm trying to lead you away but I can't Cause trying to keep us together is something that i know I can't... do (left for you left for you)
I know I can't... do (left for you left for you) without you.
There isn't anything left for you
Just put this back together like before
There isn't anything left for you left for you
Don't make me understand it anymore
There isn't anything left for you ohhh, you make me want to stay
There isn't anything left for you anything left for you... there isnt anything left for you
Put this back together like before
There isn't anything left for you left for you
Don't make me understand it anymore
There isn't anything left for you left for you ohh, you're never gonna change
There isn't anything left for you
Anything left for you but an enemy.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>