Survival

Way Out West

I'm keeping my mind open to the possibilities of today
Not trying to look back, go into the future, I am living in this present state
So familiar are the pressures that forever I've been tethered, I try to untangle them everyday Some live and they learn, others crash and burn, I think I fall somewhere in-between

This is a war, and it's - starting to get ugly, here on the front lines
No there's nothing that ever could have prepared me for these bloody attacks of the worst kind
So the attention, but purely of my own invention and to wait it out it's going to take some time
I've come to accept that no one is exempt, it's like we're dead, when I want to be alive

Yeah, I have been burned, but I am not discouraged, I'm just waiting for fate's arrival
Every time that I fail and with every mistake I learn a little more about survival

Yeah, I have been burned, but I am not discouraged, I'm just waiting for fate's arrival
Every time that I fail and with every mistake I learn a little more about survival

Yeah, I have been burned, but I am not discouraged, I'm just waiting for fate's arrival
Every time that I fail and with every mistake I learn a little more about survival

---

Lyrics submitted by Nam Lá»‰nh Nguyá» n.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/