I Need You Now

The Kinleys

I heard our song from a passing car Music faded down the boulevard Streets of empty silence cried out loud Telling me that I need you nowLonely whistle of a passing train That calls to me in the pouring rain A face I never see in every crowd Reminds me that I need you nowI'll never get over you 'cause everything I do Leads me back to you somehow Like a fool I believed that you would never leave I let you walk away I was just too proud To tell you then that I need you nowI used to wonder where we went wrong Now I wonder how you stayed so long In a love where honesty was not allowed And I never said I need you nowI'll never get over you 'cause everything I do Leads me back to you somehow Like a fool I believed that you would never leave I let you walk away I was just too proud To tell you then that I need you now All I know is I need you now
