

Hey Girl

Dashboard Confessional

Hey girl, you've got a smart way about you that makes me wish that that I was smart enough for you.

Hey girl, you've got a fine laugh,
and I think that I could get used to that.
And you're already used to laughing at me.

So what if your friends think I'm crazy, well
I wasn't trying to impress those girls anyway.
They're all theory, no action,
and where I'm from we live
like it's the latest attraction.

Hey girl, you've got a short fuse,
and I've got designs on lighting you up,
and setting you off,
and watching you burn for me.

The world lives for the weekend
Well, I'll watch as my weeks bleed right into them Without a line to divide what is theirs and what is mine

So what if your friends think I'm crazy, well
I wasn't trying to impress those girls anyway.
They're all theory, no action,
and where I'm from we live
like it's the latest attraction.

And go on, go on, your cruel intentions
Won't solve your problems, everyone's gotta get bottom bottomed out in the long run and those are the times you need love.

Lyrics submitted by francis.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>