Better

Shiloh

Love is all you ever give, but hate is just the life you live
You try your best to move along, but the pain you feel is way too strongAnd you know it breaks my heart to see you this way
I'm stuck on the words that we never sayLife ain't what it always seems to be, and I know I'm missing you, you're missing me
I am trying my hardest to make things better, can we make this better?Some people don't know how to care, there's shattered pieces everywhere
The family that you used to know, you plead to stay you wanna goYou know it breaks my heart to see you this way
I'm stuck on the words that we never sayLife ain't what it always seems to be and I know I'm missing you, you're missing me
And I am wishing, oh God, please make things better, can we make this better?And you know, the sky just keeps on changing for you, this hope
The world just keeps on turning for you, I know we can make this better
Can we make this better?Life ain't what it always seems to be and I know I'm missing you, you're missing me
And I am wishing, oh God, please make things better, can we make this better?Life ain't what it always seems to be and I know I'm missing you, you're missing me
And I am wishing, oh God, please make things better, can we make this better?
