Renascence

Project Pitchfork

ajam lives in the steppe . he loves the rolling hills the warm dry winds . but his wifes love touches his heart the most . her grace surpasses even the brightness of the stars . her gentle voice soothes his mind . pure love then came the sad day . riders raped his wife he lost his face . the elders decided that she must go . through tearful eyes he watched her leave . should I renounce my pride and follow her into death . he decides and never smiles again adam lives in a big town . he loves his job his car and his life - style . but most of all he loves his wife her endless energy . her beauty her wit and her charm then came the sad day . her test was positive he watched her lose her strength . he decides to cancel his job for the rest of her life . he'll stay by her side when the end came . he held her hand and he told her that he . always loved her and always will I love you too

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/