

Never Know

Ten Year Vamp

You see she only wants to please She wants to glide through life with ease but something brought her to her knees

She has a secret that she keeps and as the tears roll down her cheeks she finds her sanity is growing weak and when she sleeps she doesn't dream she cries and hopes you can hear her her lies are far to familiar she has a secret that you'll never know she speaks just to drown the noise she's weak but still she has her poise she has a secret that you'll never know, never know.

she wants to take you by the hand she needs your help simply to stand but she's not one to shout and take demands you see it isn't up to her she doesn't think it's your concern but if she spoke it just may take a turn

and when she sleeps she doesn't dream

she cries and hopes you can hear her
her lies are far to familiar
she has a secret that you'll never know
she speaks just to drown the noise
she's weak but still she has her poise
she has a secret that you'll never know, never know.

she cries and hopes you can hear her
her lies are far to familiar
she has a secret that you'll never know
never know

Lyrics submitted by Destiny.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>