

Dark Love (Stripped Version)

The Glass Child

VERSE

Everything is quiet, you say nothing to me now
Words are fallen silent, echoes of our violence now

Round and round this road we've walked before
If I lose myself this time, you will let me go

But if you breathe me in don't let me out

The rain will stop, no pain, no time

I'm home. With no place to go.

We can turn back time and change our minds don't go don't stay, I'll never get this right

There's no place to go.

No place to go. Everything is quiet, you say nothing to me now

The error of my leaving, departures that still haunts us down Every time you're sleeping, rain falling softly on my window

I want to talk this out now, your back; the wall; the silence screams too loud now
My love, my heart no sleep
beholds

Please hold me tight just like before
Round and round this road we've walked before

This world is ours to love, just let it go
And if you breathe me in don't let me out

Your face, the wall, this empty town

I'm home. With no place to go.

And if you've had enough don't wake me up

So safe around your sweet, dark love

We're home, with no place to go.

There's no place to go. I'll lie on glass tonight thoughts suppressed beneath my chest

Baby can we sleep tonight just a little bit of rest?

I'll hold on to morning light

I'm so blurry in the dark, can you see the stars? So close to where we are

Oh here we are
Everything is quiet, you say nothing to me now

All my words expired, confessions you kept cutting down

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>