

Here [Mark Saunders Remix]

Gravity Kills

Looking through your window
A million miles from me
My ears are bleeding from the silence
Echoing like rain, I cannot see
Leaping from your window
The fall to set me free
A leap of faith is all I ask
Remove myself from all that used to be
Now I'm here for all to see
Everything torn out of me
Too late to drown in all my doubt
Too much, too late to sort things out
Now I'm here for all to see
And everything torn out of me
Too late to drown in all my doubt
Too much, too late to sort things out
When the clock is ticking
A twisted face I see
My sight is blinded by the darkness
It doesn't mean a fucking thing to me
Turning from my window
Nothing phases me
I built this perfect little hellhole
Seems to be the perfect place for me
Now I'm here for all to see
Everything torn out of me
Too late to drown in all my doubt
Too much, too late to sort things out
Now I'm here for all to see
Everything torn out of me
Too late to drown in all my doubt
Too much, too late to sort things out

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>