Siddharta

Don't hide in this beautiful place when you know all you do is fight don't celebrate all your love that is obviously a lie
Rewind everything that is good try to be happy and alive you had all you had faith and a beautiful face now you're numb sitting down on the isle
How crazy you must be to fall from a star and how crazy you must be to follow me
Yes it was nice it was great it was everything you wanted too it was more than that but something made you completely mad and made you lose your head
But trust is something that you seek even trust is something that is weak but never forget when you said that it's all just turning on and turning offHow crazy you must be to fall from a star and how crazy you must be to follow me
Your life was so obscene (but now you swallow) you know the place to be (no fear no sorrow) you've tried to break yourself but it will never happenHow crazy you must be to fall from a star and how crazy you must be to follow meWhen you hold my hand and my face I can't believe all this is true and my life is not damned you keep on filling up my soul
With your hand on my face I can't believe all this is true you keep on filling up my soul with your hand
